“ This was the last picture I took of Barbara and I have to say it is my favorite by far. This is the face of a woman who was determined to beat all odds. One this day, she didn't want a tiny scoop...she wanted to take this tower down just because Troy said she couldn't. Guess what...she did it! You never gave up during the hard times. Always tenacious as ever.

I always loved listening to the banter between the two of you on your calls and then you call me or text me after to tell me how much you love giving him a hard time. I'm going to miss taking pictures of him and LuLu passed out taking their naps in the same pose and then quickly running outside to call you so we can laugh together at how alike they are. Sometimes we would laugh so much that we would forget why we called each other. We still laugh at how you almost got us in trouble for buying you ice cream to take home after our last outing when you were on restriction from it. Thank goodness Pat filled us in on why. You almost got us! LuLu said she will miss chewing up your houseshoes and the cuddles on your visits. I'll make sure Troy takes care of the cool tee shirts you bought him. You had always been so kind and treated me like your own. Keep everyone above laughing like you did us. We miss you tons 💕🐾💕

“ I met Barbara when Pat brought her horse to board with me. After talking a bit, Barbara and I found out we have a lot in common... Both from Kansas City, both came to California at the same young age, both avid Chiefs fans. Barbara called me sister and I called her the same. That sure made me feel special. She was a sweet lady and we chatted often when she would come to pay board each month until Pat retired. Then COVID hit and I haven't seen her in a couple of years. I wasn't thinking she'd be gone by the time we were all able to be around each other safely again. I'm so sorry about losing her as a friend, but I know she's now enjoying some easy, relaxing time with family and friends who've gone on before her. I hope Barbara knows that I love her and that I will miss her. I'm grateful for the little time I was able to spend with her here and there over the few years we knew each other. Barbara, you are and will always be missed.

“ I met Barbara back in the 70's when Leon and Lynn married. She was always a kind loving woman who treated me as family. I will miss her daily "Hugs" posts on Facebook as well as her sense of humor. Rest in peace Barb, until we meet again. And my sincere condolences to the family.

“ Sad to say goodbye to my grandma! I will miss her dearly! I will miss her stories of her younger years and she was so funny even though she didn't try to be. It was just natural. I feel like she was everyone's grandma because she was friends with damn near all of Facebook and she always remembered to wish every single person a happy birthday. She lived far from me most of my adult life but in the last year I went to visit her many times and I'm forever thankful for those memories. I know she's resting peacefully with those she loved that left us before her. I love you grandma! I still think you make the best bbq chicken ❤️

“ She was a lover of Domaine Carneros Bubbles, spicy shrimps from Red Lobster, and a daily dose of The Young and the Restless. She was the first to always wish you a happy birthday, sported the best T-shirt collection, and was the one to always respond to an I love you, with “love you more!” Grateful to have had you as my Grandma 💕 Cheers to you, I miss you dearly.

“ The post below is from Barbara’s little brother Butch (Bill). It’s under my name because he doesn’t do Facebook but his sentiment is heartfelt and needed to be posted. I’ll do my own post to mom in a little while.

“ My big sister, Barbara. Marie and I were so blessed to spend so much time with you. You always made us laugh and had that sweet twinkle in those blue eyes. I was always amazed at how much you loved those sweet chili shrimp at Red Lobster and never hesitated at downing the last few on the plate. When we talked on the phone you always called me “little brother” and when we ended our call, I always said I love you, and you said “I love you more”. Now we can no longer talk on the phone but I get the final chance to say “I love you more”! Your light got dimmer here on earth, but it’s shining oh so bright in Heaven. I will miss you so much big sister, and you will be in my thoughts and heart for the rest of my days. Love you. Your little brother and Marie
