

Norma Vega

December 18, 1948 - December 24, 2024

Today, we gather to honor the life of a truly remarkable woman—Norma. A loving wife, mother, grandmother, great-grandmother, and sister, Norma's life was one of love, resilience, and unwavering strength.

Born on December 18, 1948, in Manhattan, Norma was the oldest of six siblings. She grew up surrounded by family, and from the very beginning, she showed what it meant to be a pillar of support. Her brother Teddy preceded her in death, but she is survived by her brother, Jose, and sister Evelyn, and half sisters Nancy, and Yolanda. Family meant everything to Norma, and the bond she shared with each of them lasted a lifetime.

In 1965, while attending Louis D. Brandeis High School in Manhattan, Norma met the love of her life, Julio. They married on August 19, 1967, and their love story was one of adventure, dedication, and deep affection.

Their life together was filled with adventure. Norma loved to travel, especially on cruises, and camping with her children and family, creating lasting memories. She loved to dance, especially salsa, and was always the first to get up and move with energy and grace. Her love for music was only rivaled by her love of singing, something that brought her immense joy.

Norma's family grew as she and Julio welcomed three children into the world.

Their daughter Elaine was born in 1971, followed by their son Jason in 1975, and their son Jeffrey in 1978. Norma loved her children deeply, and each of them brought her so much pride and happiness. Elaine, sadly, preceded Norma in death, but her memory remains a part of this family that Norma cherished so much.

Norma was also a wonderful cook, always ready to gather loved ones around her table, feeding not only their hunger but their hearts as well. Her home was a place of warmth and welcome, where laughter and love were shared freely.

In addition to being a devoted mother and wife, Norma worked for the Social Security office both in New York and after the family moved to California in 1983. She retired from this work, but it was always clear that her true passion lay in caring for her family.

Norma was also a fighter. She was a breast cancer survivor, and though the disease took its toll, Norma's spirit remained unbroken. Later in life, when she faced the challenges of dementia, she continued to express love for her family—especially her husband Julio, often saying, "I love you Julio," even until her final moments. That enduring expression of love is a testament to the depth of her heart.

She is survived by Julio, her beloved husband of over 56 years, her children Jason and Jeffrey, her 12 grandchildren, and her 3 great-grandchildren, all of whom she adored. Though her memory may have faded, the love she gave each of them will last forever.

As we remember Norma today, we hold on to the lessons she taught us: the importance of family, the power of resilience, and the beauty of unconditional love. She lived a full life, one marked by joy, courage, and devotion, and she will never be forgotten.

Rest in peace, Norma. You were loved beyond measure, and you will be missed by all who knew you.

My dear sister. I have such great memories of you. I remember talking for hours on Saturdays and sharing our dreams and love of family. Even though we met later on in our years, I was happy you found us and we found you. The small time we shared was cherished for a lifetime. I will never forget that big warm smile and those wonderful hugs, your love for music, your love for your brothers and sister, your mom's and especially your adored kids. I am a better person after you came into my life. I will miss you. I will never forget you!!
